

Gross Advice

BY DR. CRUDLEY GROSS

[The GUARDIAN feels honored in having acquired the services of that gifted Austrian psychiatrist, Dr. Crudley Gross. Dr. Gross gained world renown for his ability to solve personal problems, and also for his unsuccessful brain transplants. Send in your letters, c/o Guardian, P.O. Box 445, Lexington Park, and let Dr. Gross erase your troubles. And girls, you will be glad to know that Dr. Gross is a bachelor.]

Dear Dr. Gross,

Dr. Jarboe is a fine physician and also a conscientious citizen. But can he combine medicine with his job as County Commissioner? It just seems to me that this would be too much of a chore for one man.

David Thoreau
Lexington Park

ANSWER:

So far he has done a wonderful job. Last week I went to him when I was suffering from a sore throat. He prescribed two tax reform bills, twice a day, for one week. If that didn't work, I was to take one budget report, four times a day, for two weeks. My sore throat disappeared like magic.

Dear Dr. Gross,

I am going to commit suicide and there ain't nothing you can do about it. But I want to die a horrible death. I want to be mangled and pulverized. Do you have any suggestions?

Walter T. Barnes
Avenue

ANSWER

Walk up and punch Lt. Carl Muchow in the mouth. This will definitely accomplish your desires.

Dear Dr. Gross,

I am a young woman and I am terribly depressed. You see, I have this tremendously large bosom and it embarrasses me so much I am afraid to leave the house. Is there anything I can do?

Molly Coldslaw
Leonardtwn

ANSWER:

Come to my office immediately. I think I should handle this problem personally.

Dear Dr. Gross,

My cat just had puppies. I can't afford to keep them and I was wondering if you knew anybody who could take them off my hands?

Polly Henshaw
Ridge

ANSWER:

I'm sorry, I don't. But that's one hell of a cat you've got there!