

GRANDMOTHER

*She's very old and wrinkled now
But what a lovely face
Filled with patience and caring
With beauty and with grace*

*She made my life much richer
And if praises I can sing
Thanks Grandma for all that love
Thank you for everything*

RESPONSIBILITY

*Sally is only four years old
But I sent her to the store
"Get five dollars worth of bread," I said
As she skipped on out the door*

*I felt surprise when she got back
I guess that I was dumb
For Sally bought five dollars worth
Of purple bubble gum*

THE HYPOCRITE

*I wish the lady next door would be
More modest now and then
She parades around in her bikini
Over and over again*

*I think it's simply terrible
It really makes me frown
Pardon me just a minute
While I lay these binoculars down*

THE TRAP

*Mama doesn't trust me
I know this to be true
She done me awful nasty
And made me black and blue*

*She never should have doubted me
She really went too far
When she put that mousetrap
In the cookie jar*